

To the organizers, exhibitors and visitors of the 11th International Specialized Exhibition BuildTech'2013

Dear friends,

I heartily greet the organizers, exhibitors and visitors with the opening of the 11th International Specialized Exhibition BuildTech'2013!

The state of things in the construction branch of the economy is an indicator of the progressive development of Ukraine because the capital invested into construction stimulates the multifold increase in the capital of the other branches of Ukraine's economy which are connected with construction.

The Exhibition BuildTech'2013 has brought together, as such exhibitions always do, the leading Ukrainian and foreign suppliers of construction, road building, mining and other specialized equipment and machinery.

Introduction of the most advanced technologies, promising innovations and projects, and original constructive improvements which are reflected in the products shown at this exhibition, make it possible to exchange valuable information among the experts in construction, to introduce modernization and European standards of construction, and to develop the partnership between state and private business.

May the organizers, exhibitors and visitors of the Exhibition have good impressions, new fruitful contacts and achieve highly positive results in their work.

Respectfully yours,

Spiridon Kilinkarov,

Head of the Verkhovna Rada Committee on Construction, Urban Development, Housing and Communal Services and Regional Policy
